DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Peddicord et al., U.S. patent No. 6,589,491 or Peddicord U.S. patent No. 6,183,704 in view of either of Fentiman U.S. patent No. 2,895,753 or Glickman U.S. patent No. 5,061,219.

Both Peddicord patents teach a salt platform having a support structure configured with a hub and radial braces, some disclosed as curved and which are engaged by frictional fit.

Both Fentiman and Glickman teach joined building structures which are configured with locking elements for cooperative, sustained engagement. Each teach the use of a slot/key type configuration with the slot means being found on the periphery of a hub means and having keyed radial means, with the keys being substantially T-shaped. It is taught that such configurations provided optimized structural stability and connection.

It would have been well within the purview of one of ordinary skill in the art to substitute the frictional engagement structure of either of the Peddicord systems with the keyed locking elements system of either of Fentiman or Glickman, because the use of such locking systems would provide optimized structural stability and connection.

With respect to claim 10, while the specific angle is not recited within either Fentiman or Glickman, such a configuration is clearly taught and the angle obviously chosen for the given application.
